WHEN TALKING WITH SOMEONE WHO MIGHT BE SUICIDAL...

WHAT IS HELPFUL?

- Show you care. Listen carefully. Be genuine. Say things like, “I’m concerned about you... about how you feel.”
- Ask the question, “Are you thinking about suicide?”
- Be direct, caring, and non-confrontational.
- Get help. Do not leave them alone. Say things like, “You’re not alone. I will help get the care you need.”

WHAT IS NOT HELPFUL?

- Ignoring or dismissing the issue. This sends the message that you don’t hear their message, don’t believe them, or you don’t care about their pain.
- Acting shocked or embarrassed.
- Panicking, preaching, or patronizing.
- Challenging, debating, or bargaining. Never challenge a person with suicidal thoughts.
- Giving harmful advice... such as saying, “It will pass. Just ignore it.” “Just get over it.” “Everyone has those thoughts.” Suggesting the use of drugs or alcohol to “feel better.”
- Promising to keep a secret. The person with suicidal thoughts is sharing their feelings hoping that someone will recognize the pain and help, even though they may verbally contradict this.

WHO CAN BE HELPFUL?

- School Administrators
- School Nurses
- School Counselors
- Social Workers
- Coaches
- School Psychologists
- School Resource Officer

SUICIDE PREVENTION RESOURCE GUIDE FOR KANSAS SCHOOLS
SUMMARY

- Take every warning sign or threat of self-harm seriously
- Do not keep the student’s reported thoughts of suicide a secret
- Take immediate action(s)
- Remain with the student
- Document all actions

KEY PRINCIPLES TO REMEMBER IN ANY CRISIS

- Ensure that the student in any crisis is safe. Remain with the student until other supports arrive. Do not leave the student alone.
- If needed, send someone for help.
- Listen to the student. Acknowledge their feelings, allow them to express their feelings, avoid giving advice or opinions and listen for warning signs. An example response could be: “John, I’m sorry you are feeling this way. Let’s go talk to someone. I am here for you.”
- Be direct. Ask directly about suicide. Asking about suicide does not put the idea into the student’s head. An example question could be: “Are you thinking about killing yourself?”
- Be honest. Offer hope, but don’t condescend or offer unrealistic assurances.
- Know personal limits. Only involve yourself to the level you feel comfortable. Don’t be afraid to refer to another person.
- Inform caregivers/guardians as needed. Reassure the student is currently safe. Inform them of community support available to them during and after the crisis.
- Monitor friends of the student and others who are potentially at risk of suicide.
- Debrief: All faculty involved in supporting the student are given opportunities to discuss their reactions and are offered support as needed. What could have been done better during the situation?

KANSAS - A FRIEND ASKS APP

A free mobile app, called “Kansas – A Friend AsKS,” has been developed in partnership with The Jason Foundation, a national suicide prevention organization and can be found in both the Apple App Store and the Google Play Store. The app connects youth to tools and resources to help a friend, or themselves, who may be struggling with thoughts of suicide. The app also offers the option for users to call or text the 988 mental health crisis line, which was launched in Kansas in July. Visit ag.ks.gov to learn more.
During times of crisis, managing your own emotions can be a challenge. Building self-regulation skills can make all the difference. Check out the resources recommended by school psychologists with the Greenbush Crisis Prevention team.
